

Boykin Contracting

Established at the start of the new millennium, Boykin Contracting, which specializes in general, electrical and mechanical contracting for commercial and government construction clients in the Southeast, became SBA 8(a) certified only two years later in 2002.

Company president and founder Cory Adams received his B.S. degree in Electrical Engineering from South Carolina State University and began his career at H.R. Allen estimating small commercial projects and, with other project managers, working on larger projects. Realizing the limited opportunity for growth at H.R. Allen, Cory began thinking about the possibility of starting his own contracting business. After he passed the S.C. licensing exam, he formed Boykin Contracting, Inc. as a subchapter S corporation. Boykin Contracting, which currently employs 74 workers, is now also certified by the S.C. Minority Development Center and the S.C. Governor's Office of Small and Minority Business. In 2005, the company was named one of the 25 Fastest-Growing Businesses in S.C.

Under the leadership of Cory Adams and with the 8(a) certification, Boykin Contracting might continue its level of success even into the next millennium.
